

21. Know Your Workplace Rights.

This one-hour know-your-rights training is designed to educate workers about the Federal, state and City of Seattle labor standards. It will provide attendees the resources they need if their rights are violated. Workers in need of legal assistance will be directed to appropriate resources.

Presenters: Ahmed Abdi and Andra Kranzler, Fair Work Center.

22. Exercise Financial Fitness to Reach Your Goals.

This interactive workshop is designed to provide practical information that will empower attendees to make wise financial decisions, improve their financial future, and provide resources to achieve financial goals. Discussion includes: steps to home ownership; how to build your credit; evaluating income; interest rates; assets and liabilities; life insurance strategies; starting a business; and creating generational wealth. Attendees will learn to control their financial future.

Presenters: Patt Butler, Financial and Business Development Educator; Vorriecce Whitten, Jr., Real Estate Broker, Keller Williams Realty, experienced Mortgage Banker, and Credit Consultant.

23. Entrepreneurial Development: Learn How to Create a Business or Grow Your Business.

Participants will learn to create personal checklists for their entrepreneurship.

Presenters: Leonard Simpson, Patrick Hughs.

24. Community Input Opportunity: Seattle Department of Education and Early Learning Levy.

In 2018, an important levy will be on the ballot in Seattle, affecting what is offered in all Seattle schools. In this workshop, participants will learn about the levy planning process and provide input into which programs and services are included in the proposed levy.

Presenter: Tai Velasquez, Soul Light Consulting

25. Imagine Africatown: Building Our Black Wall Street Seattle.

Come and learn about community development projects to keep the Black community present in the Central District of Seattle into the future. Learn about current and future projects and help co-create a future rooted in the best of our past.

Presenters: K. Wyking Garrett, Africatown Community Land Trust; Evelyn Allen, Black Community Impact Alliance; Anthony Stewart, Community Advocate.

26. The Power of Labor Unions.

In this workshop, you'll learn why labor unions were created and the advances (such as minimum wage and sick leave) they've made possible. You'll learn about CEO compensation and corporate profits and how governments and corporations relate. You'll learn how to strengthen unions.

Presenters: IAM #751 Machinists Union: Prince Stewart, Jonathan Tran, Hazel Powers, Matthew Hardy, Richard Jackson

27. Disrupting Displacement.

The racialization of displacement is rooted in a history of politics and practices by government, police and financial institutions that consistently disregard Black, Brown and cash-poor residents. This workshop will examine who benefits from displacement of long-time Seattle residents. Learn of anti-displacement efforts and get involved! Through power mapping, participants will deconstruct displacement and generate ideas about how to dismantle it.

Presenters: Jill Mangaliman and Esther Little Dove John, Got Green; representatives from Block the Bunker, Stepping Forward and No Youth Jail.

28. Clean Green Delegation to Cuba

A local delegation of pastors, congregants, farmers, activists, artists, professionals and students will share how Cuba has survived living through embargo, with an emphasis on organic farming.

Presenters: Rev. Robert Jeffrey, Eva Lopez, New Hope Missionary Baptist Church.